Dear friends,

Please accept our most sincere thanks for your generous inkind service donation of 2 workers for our Rebuilding Day project in spring. We are so grateful for your support of our ongoing efforts, as are our many homeowners and non-profit organizations who benefit from donations like yours.

Rebuilding Together brings communities and volunteers together to rehabilitate the homes of low income homeowners, particularly the elderly and disabled, so they may live in warmth, safety and independence. We also repair non-profit facilities so they are better able to serve our community. All work is done at no cost to the homeowner or agency and is achieved with the support of hundreds of volunteers and generous supporters such as you.

Your gift, along with other donated labor and materials, helps us leverage our dollars to provide over 2,682 home repairs in our community this year. The homeowners we assist are often amazed that complete strangers would extend a hand to help them. "You will never know how much we appreciate the improvements that were made," said one San Jose resident, who is now able to live comfortably and safely in her home. Thank you for extending your hand in support to make this work possible.

It is a pleasure to have you as our partner as we seek to rebuild Silicon Valley one homeowner at a time, and thank you again for your generous contribution!

Sincerely,
